

LOCAL MATTERS.

PERSONALS AND BRIEFS.

Mr. Albert S. Warner, manager of the Burrows estate, which owns the Middlebrook coal mines, has telegraphed Mr. J. B. Lightfoot, agent, that he will arrive in Richmond to-day. He comes on to decide what course shall be adopted as to the future of the pits.

Major T. D. Kline, superintendent of the Richmond and Petersburg railroad, has resigned that position for the purpose of engaging in other business.

Captain John Humphreys Chamberlayne is confined to his bed by severe indisposition.

Sensors Bond, Cooper, and Lancaster, and Delegates Handy, Mudd, and Coston, the committee of the Maryland Legislature appointed to confer with our legislative authorities relative to the Maryland-Virginia boundary line, arrived here yesterday. Our committee met them in Baltimore, and were handsomely treated by them. Yesterday they visited the Capitol, and last evening met the Virginia committee with reference to the boundary line.

Senator Mayo (the chairman of the Virginia committee) and Senator Atkinson have been assiduous in attentions, and will see that the visitors have as good a time as a city of this size can offer.

The hands are working night and day near Haxall's mill on the freezing channel. To connect the Alleghany railroad with tide-water near the shiplocks.

THEATRE—COLLIER'S COMBINATION.—BANKER'S DAUGHTER. A large audience was present at the Theatre last night, and it is seldom so perfect a success has been recorded. The acting throughout was good and fully appreciated. The drama is one which excites the sympathies of the audience in the highest degree, and it hardly played it is nothing. It was not so last night. Every point was touched with artistic skill. The costumes were all good—some of them more than good—really beautiful. The "Banker's Daughter" is a society play, and requires ladies and gentlemen to play it. It is a household name, and is so it is done by the company now playing it here. When the curtain was called up again at the end of the third act an excellent point was made by Mrs. Watson and Mr. Dickson introducing a comical scene in a scene almost as painful as the latter, thereby rendering the whole at once more realistic and more touching. It might be suggested that Mr. Dickson as "Brown the Retired Millionaire" would be better if not so very old. His make-up is excellent and acting good, but rather too much of the conventional old man. Age does not speak always—sometimes it mumbles. The duel scene is terrible in its perfect quiet truthfulness. Mr. Whiting's rendition of the fifth act was almost if not quite perfect. It can be said of Miss Florence White that she has done the role of "Lilian" as it had been Lilian herself—nothing strained or staccato—no grasping after effects—just doing the work as the author intended, and doing it well. Dr. Watson was a trifle still unsuccessfully so; the Countess and vonnons, and brought down to the house with his note-book and accurate time-table. Little Georgia filled her role well. Take it all in all, it is an excellent drama acted remarkably well.

To-night and to-morrow night it will be repeated.

STINGBELLOW AT MOZART HALL LAST NIGHT.—The greatest and best lecture that ever attended a lecture at the hall was the verdict of an usher last evening after the lecture. As early as 7 o'clock the people began coming, and by 8 o'clock 1,100 were in the house.

Mr. Stringfellow gave a thrilling recital of his "Adventure of a Confederate Scout," and in one of the most interesting lectures we have had in Richmond for many years. It will be agreeable news to all who heard him to learn that he will in a few weeks deliver another lecture in the star room of the Theatre, and that the same lecture has done a good work in providing so much pleasant entertainment for our people as has been afforded by this course of lectures.

THE NEXT COURSE OF THE OLD DOMINION FISHING AND YACHT CLUB.—The Old Dominion Fishing and Yacht Club have recently held their quarterly meeting and made many of their arrangements for the next annual cruise. Heretofore the club has sailed on the first Friday in August, but a number of experienced seamen have advised a change to July, in order to avoid the great storms and cyclones which visit the coast early in that month. With this view, and also to accommodate its members, so that all may go on the cruise, the time for the next sailing has been changed to Friday, July 7th.

The club will, as usual, visit Cobb's Island, and include other points not visited heretofore.

Mr. James H. Capers, a highly-valued member of the club, has resigned on account of other engagements.

SEPTIME COURT OF APPEALS.—Gordon against Croxton and als. Cause placed on the private docket.

To the Old-Follows of Richmond.

In the late disaster at the Middlebrook mines four brethren of our order lost their lives. One of them left a blind father, an aged mother, and six children, who were dependent upon him for a support; another left a widow and four children, and another a widow and six children. All of these are poor and dependent.

At a meeting of the Old-Follows of Richmond lately held a committee of one from each lodge was appointed to solicit contributions from the brethren of the order to raise a fund for their relief.

The committee, in discharge of this duty, earnestly request every Old-Fellow to contribute to the relief of the bereaved families of our dear brethren. We ask each member of the order to give according to his ability, to give promptly; and whether it be much or little, that every one will give something.

Brother John W. Ferguson, grand treasurer, corner of Main and Fourteenth streets, has consented to receive any contributions in money. Those who contribute do so directly to Brother Ferguson, or to the secretary of their lodge, who will turn over the amount to him.

Articles of merchandise or produce intended to be sold may be deposited with Brother E. C. Richmond Bazaar, 1234 Main street, who will sell them free of charge.

Edward H. Fitzsimon, Chairman of Committee.

Editor of the Journal of Commerce:

To settle a controversy, please decide which will freeze first—hot or cold water, both exposed to the same temperature?

J. M. C.

Reply.—The hot-water pipes in a house are the first to freeze. The reason is that the water in the pipes is constantly moving, and the motion prevents it from freezing.
